

Read-Me Ruled-Paper templates

Charles Kenyon

Download from: Ruled Paper Templates

There are two templates in this set. Both are designed to have headers that simulate ruled paper. One has a red rule at 1.5 inches, the other at 2.5 inches.

Neither is set to have text typed on top of it. This text is in a Text Box rather than in the document layer.

The rules and lines are table borders and the table is in the Header, the First-Page Header, and the Even-Page Header.

To add to another document, create a next-page or odd-page section break at the end of the document. Set all headers and footers to not be linked to previous in the new section. There are SIX settings for this.

See Header/Footer Settings Recap on my website for more about headers and footers.

The templates are for college-ruled and legal-ruled paper.

These could be customized as far as line spacing and the position of the red rule by editing the tables in the headers (all three headers).

This is version 24.01. This Read-Me is based on the legal-ruled template.
